Bayshore Road Opening Plans Are Announced

A celebration of the opening of the Bayshore highway is planned which will eclipse any previous celebration of its kind in this district. Final plans for the event were completed by representatives of San Mateo and San Francisco counties this week.

It is planned to have a large delegation from Palo Alto and the communities south of here to meet early Sunday at the office of the chamber of commerce here where the local residents will join the caravan and travel to the county line being joined enroute by the delegations from the cities to the north. It is planned to meet with the San Francisco party at the county line at 1:30.

The program of short talks and music will be conducted from a specially constructed grandstand. The ten or more bands will be for the playing of the "Star-Spangled Banner" and "I Love You, California.", under the direction of Supervisor Alfred Roncovieri.

Plans for the decoration of the new highway and for similar decorations in Visitacion valley were outlined.

A new feature, it was announced, will be a street dance at Thornton avenue and Bayshore highway under the auspices of the Portola Merchants' Association, to be held in the evening from 8 to 12 o'clock.

Following the official program, the parade of automobiles will be conducted over the State's section of the Bayshore highway into San Mateo county, the Supervisors and officials of this county leading the way.

Preparations have been made for handling more than 5000 cars. The traffic regulation and the turning of the parade will be in charge of Captain Goff of the San Francisco traffic bureau.

The plans for the affair were made by a committee composed of the presidents of the various chambers of commerce of this county and the delegates from San Francisco.

Services Held This Week For George L. Field

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the parlors of Layng & Tinney on Washington street for George Lathrop Fields, who passed away Sunday at his home on Whipple avenue, following a long illness. Interment was in Cypress Lawn cemetery.

Born in New York 73 years ago, Fields began his career as a sailor, but abandoned the sea for the theatrical profession. He became very successful in this line and was the first treasurer of the old Orpheum of San Francisco. He was also at one time manager of the California and Bush street theatres. Both of these houses were famous in the early days of San Francisco and were rated as the best playhouses on the coast at that time.

Mr. Fields was a member of a well known family, being a nephew of Cyrus Fields, layer of the first trans-Atlantic telephone cable, and a cousin of Eugene Fields, whose verses are loved by children through out the world.

Retiring from active business some 20 years ago Mr. and Mrs. Fields came to Redwood City, and have spent most of that time here. In addition to his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Fields, the deceased leaves a brother and a sister, both residents of the east.

J. C. Baird, Burlingame, was elected president; H. E. Jenkins, Burlingame, vice-president, and Glen Stern, Burlingame, secretary-treasurer. All peninsula residents who are members of Masonic Shrine temples are eligble for membership, said the new president. Formation of the club was assisted by Julian Harries, past potentate of Islam Temple, San Francisco; Herman Wertsch, recorder of the temple, and Dr. H. M. McKinley.

AUTO FIRE CAUSES ALARM

The Redwood City fire department was called to Madison and Cleveland streets Wednesday night to save an automobile which had caught fire. The flames were speedily extinguished, although the car was badly damaged.

Boy Burglars Taken to S. F.

John Ryan, 14, and Donald Powers, 12, were removed from the county detention home here Monday and transferred to the juvenile court of San Francisco. The two boys were arrested in Santa Clara, when a stolen automobile which they had taken from San Mateo crashed into a tree.

Last Thursday Ryan made a desperate attempt to escape from the juvenile home. He locked the matron into a room and dashed down the street. A passer-by heared the matron's appeal for assistance and notified the sheriff's office.

Deputies from the sheriff's office released the matron and pursued the run-away boy down Marshall street. Seeing himself being overtaken Ryan jumped into the creek from the Bradford street bridge and endeavored to swim away, but was overtaken by the deputies in a row boat.

On Monday, while being taken to San Francisco by Probation Officer Francis Rapp and the matron of the home, Ryan made a second attempt at escape. He managed to slip from the handcuffs with which he had been mancled and when Rapp's car slowed down to make a turn in San Francisco, the lad began to jump from the car. Rapp succeded, however, in catching him with one hand and holding him until the car could be brought to a stop.

Both boys are charged with the burglary of a grocery store at Colma and with the theft of two cars, one of which they abandoned at San Mateo, when it ran out of gas. The car which they wrecked in Santa Clara was taken from San Mateo.

Citizens' Night To Be Observed At High School

By VERA WALLER

Due to the incompletion of the new buildings last spring, Citizen's Night was postponed until October 11. The main purposes of this event are to bring the citizens into closer contact with the school, and to display the equipment.

Tonight, in addition to being Citizen's Night, it is really the official opening of the new buildings to the public.

There are to be many exhibits, although there will not be as many as previously due to the fact that the school has been in session for such a short time, but Sequoia will be twice as large as it was last year.

A faculty committee to care of the evening is composed of Carl Anderson, chairman; Miss Marion Hosmer, Miss Bertha Mittel, Miss Mildred Brown, Miss Eunice Schmidt, Frank Griffin, Edwin De Smith, George Bell, Carl Underwood and Otis M. Carrington.

With the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce as host, members of the chambers of commerce of other towns on the peninsula will be given a banquet along with the following special guests: Roy W. Cloud, former superintendent and present executive secretary of the California Teachers' Association; Miss Pansy Jewett Abbott, county superintendent; John Gill, city superintendent; Donald Bogie, and Miss Juliane Wolters, vice-principals; and the members of the school board. The Sequoia orchestra will provide music during the banquet.

One of the features of the exhibits is to be reproductions of famous paintings collected and displayed by Mrs. Vera Jones Bright in the honor study hall. The object of this is for the citizens to pick the best pictures to decorate the different class rooms. On citizen's Night the public may drop a note in a box in the honor study hall stating which pictures they like best. This exhibt was in San Francisco a month ago in the San Francisco public library. Thousands of school children went to see it.

In Tune With The World

EDITORIAL

IN THE materialism of present day civilization we must not forget to cultivate the aesthetic side of human life. The Arts have had their part in the development of civilization, and music has probably played the greatest part of all.

Music is instinctive—it is universal. You may pierce the thickest jungle to come upon the settlement of some savage tribe, and there you will find these aborigines experiencing the joy of primitive music from the tom toms near the tribal king. In fact, their lives are practically governed by music. It is their call to battle, their radio, their telephone, their newspaper. With it they send messages, and give outlet to all their feelings. It plays an important part in their religious rites and festivals. With music they express their thanksgiving for deliverance from danger or famine, and with music they make their lamentations for the dead.

Then you may journey to the very seats of culture and learning, and you will find the cream of civilization enjoying the music of the world's greatest composers. As humanity has advanced, music has kept pace with it, and it is still used to express the complexities of the human soul—its aspirations, its loves, its sorrows, its bewilderment or exultation. Fortunate is he who can relase his emotions through the medium of music, and fortunate is he to whom music brings solace or inspiration, or merely the glorious expression of the joy of life. Music—the universal language that needs no interpreter when soul speaks to soul.

We, in Redwood City, should give music its rightful place in our lives. Within us all there exists a fundamental something that responds to music—a something that may be coarsened or refined according to the aesthetic influences with which we surround ourselves. A musical community is a delightful place to live in, and there is no need for anyone in Redwood City being without music in some form. We can all be in tune with the world.

REDWOOD CITY FILLS Y. M. C. A. QUOTA

Redwood City again took off the honors from San Mateo and Burlingame when the quota in the annual finance campaign for the work of the Young Men's Christian Association was reached on Saturday. San Mateo at its report meeting on Monday evening were within forty dollars of their goal of $2500 which the workers agreed to cover with subscriptions within the next day or two. Burlingame holds down bottom place among the three with $2600 raised out of its quota.

Sequoia district is especially proud of its record with San Carlos, the first community to announce its quota raised, added to the showing of Redwood City. The other communities in the district are now pushing forward for their goals and it is hoped by the men who are putting forth such splendid effort in making this splendid work withh young men and boys possible that the whole district will announce its share raised in the very near future.

State's Minerals Source of Wealth

(Capitol News Bureau Service)

SACRAMENTO, October 9—Headed for a new source of industrial wealth and development, California is rapidly developing her mineral industries, pacing highway construction, mile by mile as road builders open new avenues of transportation.

Such is the picture of the richest state in the union, drawn today by Edwin Bates, industrial commissioner in charge of domestic commerce, federal department of commerce.

Interest of the nation and of the world is awakening in California's immeasurable treasure trove of rock, non-metallic deposits and particularly in the newer industrial materials for which science is finding constantly increasing uses, Bates declared.

Inter-coastal commerce now is heavily off balance, with 190,000 long tons moving eastward, Bates pointed out, citing recent development of California markets for eastern slate, sulphur, phosphate and clay despite the fact that these products abound within the state.

Only as San Mateo county's highway system devolops, offering cheap transportation, will capital begin a wholesale working of valuable mineral deposits he predicted, but stressed that many communities are missing opportunities for industrial growth through failure to advertise mineral wealth at their doors.

Sequoia Cagers To Meet Teams From San Mateo

By STAN WOHLKIN

In the first league game of the basketball season Sequoia meets San Mateo's teams at the Bearcat's gymn on Friday at 7:45.

The Cherokee teams will be led in the Roger's system of player control by the newly elected captains, Dick Morgan of the 120's and Bruce Graham of the 110's. San Mateo, however, will not use the Roger's system.

According to the dope on the games, Sequoia's 110's should win their game easily enough. The 120's however, is expected to be a rather close contest with the odds slightly in favor of San Mateo's Bearcats. Yama of the San Mateo 20's is the leading player along with J. Walker.

Captain Morgan of Sequoia's 20's, has been high point man in the last two practice games and has proven himself a steady worker.

A large crowd is expected from both schools, as a great deal is at stake in the outcome of these first league contests.

Boys' Club Hears Of Social Service

The Yomecan Club enjoyed a very fine talk Wednesday evening at its regular meeting at the Sequoia Hotel. Mrs. Ellen Biber of the San Mateo County Social Service Commission spoke on "The Work of the Social Service Bureau." She told of the difficulty that faced the bureau in order to give those who were in need and worthy without pauperizing them. She told of many cases of interest in the county where the need came as the result of sickness, in others it was a case of lack of understanding of finance, in others it was laziness on the part of one or both parents of children, which brought them into dire need. In a number of cases it was hospitalization that was necessary. Where the patient is able to pay in part a fee is set accordingly.

Next meeting the principal speaker will be Lloyd Wilson of the Public Relations Division of the Young Men's Christian Association of San Francisco. Mr. Wilson has been much in demand by service clubs because of his wit and humor along the line of "darky" stories. Pennsylvania Tries Halfbacks

COACH Louis A. Young of the University of Pennsylvania football squad has decided to try out a number of halfbacks in calling signals for the team.

Alfred Brodbeck, who played in the national amateur golf championship last September instead of reporting for football, has decided to devote his time to the gridiron sport this fall. He reported in excellent fettle and seems destined to make as much a name for himself in the fall sport as he has in basket ball and golf.

Mort Wilner, who for two seasons was first string substitute quarterback on the varsity, is the first choice to call the signals. His experience as an understudy combined with his ability to run the ball have won him the position as regular quarterback.

In addition to Brodbeck, Young has designated Dick Gentle, a veteran halfback from last year and Bill Graupner, a freshman quarterback last season, as signal callers for scrimmage drills. Should Brodbeck develop as the coaches anticipate, Gentle will return to a halfback position.

Walter Opekun, whose sensational run of 93 yards after having recovered a fumble in the Cornell game will not be duplicated this season because of the new rule, is the fullback of the team. He will meet real opposition from Bill Raffel, 175-pounder from the freshman team of last season. Robert Meyer, who weighs about the same, and a yearling, and Jack Ruggiero, who, while light in weight, is one of the most aggressive players in the squad.

Coach Young has decreed heavy work from now on. The charging machine, tackling dummy and other paraphernalia regarded as implements of torture by the uninitiated will be used every day from now on, followed by a scrimmage drill that will last from twenty to forty minutes.

Judging by the few formations that have been used thus far, the lineup for the first team will be something like the following: Olexy and Gervin, ends; Captain Utz and Barrett, tackles; Kuen and Magal, guards; Warren, center; Wilner, quarterback; Gentle or Masters and Caristen, halfbacks, and Opekun, fullback.

Coach Lou Young.

According to Coach Young not one position on the team is settled. Changes will be made almost daily with any individual showing sufficient worth replacing one of the favorites. Any one of twenty-two freshmen from last season may supplant a letter wearer. Certain it is that a number of last year's yearlings will be used as first string substitutes.

Frank Merrick, who is six feet three inches tall and weighs close to two hundred pounds and is thus the biggest man in the squad, is regarded as a real threat to the ambitions of Tom Barrett and Bill Williams to be one of the two regular tackles. A summer of strenuous work has placed Merrick in ideal condition to fight his way to a regular berth.

Babe Herman Says He'll Ask $100,000 Salary

Floyd C. (Babe) Herman, Brooklyn slugger, leading National league slugger, has made it known that he is prepared to ask the Robins' management for $100,000 for his next season's work.

The illustrious .400 hitter has it figured this way: If Babe Ruth can ask a hundred grand for his next season's stipend why can't he? If a member of a Bronx team can expect that much compensation, why not a representative of Flatbush?"

The answer seems to be that the McKeever-Ebbets interests can't begin to pay what Colonel Ruppert with his prosperous Yankees can.

This Babe, however, suffers from no inferiority complexes. He is prepared to point out that he will outhit the Babe 50 points any year, that he can hit a ball as far as well as oftener, and that the only reason he doesn't make as many home runs is because he hits slashing liners to left and center instead of pulling pop flies into nearby right-field stands.

Nevertheless, the belief prevails that Herman will be lucky to get a quarter of what he plans to demand. It is reported that Lou Gehrig gets $25,000 a year and no one will gainsay the Brooklyn Babe in his contention that if Lou is worth that kind of money to the Yankees he is worth at least as much to the Robins.

New Pirate Pilot

Jewel Ens, who took the place of Donie Bush as pilot of the Pirates, imparted snap and dash to the Bucs and captured a lot of games near the end of the season.

Lively Ball Costly

The lively ball is expensive. Harry Hinchman, manager of the Reading club of the International league, says:

"With the lively ball the clubs in this league have to carry nine and ten pitchers instead of six or seven. For in these days you can scarcely count on the starting pitcher going the route. These extra pitchers cost each club about $15,000 a year in salaries."

Claims "Fork Ball"

A Tacoma plumber, Bert Hall, has dropped his tools long enough to produce evidence that he is the originator of the "fork ball" of baseball.

"Bullet" Joe Bush, former major league pitcher, claims to have used the odd delivery for the first time in 1920.

But Hall's book of clippings reveals he started on the road to fame with the fork ball in 1908 while twirling for Tacoma in the old Northwestern league.

CARRIER'S FAME MOST ENDURING

That Style of Offense Brings Red Grange to Front.

More grid players have gained fame through ability to carry the ball off tackle and around end than any other form of attack. Once in a while a kicker, a pass receiver, a passer will be a team's great star, but the carrier's fame is the most enduring. This style of offense brought Red Grange into the limelight.

The wide end sweeps and the cut back plays with excellent blocking by linesmen and leading backs made Grange famous. The same was true of Paddy Driscoll when he wore the purple colors of Northwestern. Oliphant, of Purdue, who afterward went to the Army, was given excellent support by his line, and thus made his reputation.

However, there must be a variation of attack. A pass, especially if used from the running formation, makes the ground gaining easier off tackle and around end. The line plunge, with a fake thrust off tackle, is the more effective if tackle plays have been gaining.

Quarterbacks seek to find the weak spot in opponents' defense. A game may be won by the use of five plays instead of the fifty or sixty which may compose the offensive repertoire.

As the modern game is played any back may be shifted to a ball carrying position. In this manner ball carriers may be rested. Ends may be brought back if they are adept at running.

Congress may be asked to intervene in the squabble between the Army and Navy departments over the resumption of athletic relations. Congressman Hamilton Fish, New York, called on President Hoover and suggested that the games be resumed. The famous one-time Harvard varsity grid player, talking after the interview, said:

"I suggested that the secretaries of war and navy, the superintendents of the two academies and the athletic directors should call a conference in an effort to remove the differences that caused a break in relations."

Miller Huggins, famed manager of the New York Yankees, who passed on the other day, was at one time the leader of the St. Louis Cardinals and as such had a long and serious debate with Bob Connery, St. Louis scout, over giving $500 for the purchase of a rookie. Connery finally won and Rogers Hornsby became the property of the St. Louis team.

Ohio State's passing for the coming season will be handled by McConnell and Holman, practice at Stadium field indicated. Arden McConnell, a third-year man, has come up from the ranks in the last two weeks of pre-season work and has what seems to be a regular halfback position.

The Trojans meet Stanford at Palo Alto, October 26; California at Los Angeles, November 2, and Notre Dame at Chicago, November 16.

Jim Poole Wins

Jim Poole, the Nashville veteran, finally won out in his hot race for the batting leadership of the Southern league. Final unofficial averages showed him leading the loop with a mark of .347. He beat out both Weis of Birmingham and Jeanes of Memphis, who had respective averages of .344 and .341. Poole also paced the field in runs batted in with 114 and in home runs with 32. Dashiell of Chattanooga stole 45 bases to rank first among the runners.

Mystery of the Blue Goose Solved

Out of the frozen North comes word that J. Dewey Soper, special investigator of the northwest territories branch of the Department of the Interior, has found the nest of the enigma of ornithologists—the blue goose. For years the blue goose has baffled hunters. Nobody ever saw a blue goose's nest, or a blue goose egg, or a blue goose fledgling. The blue goose appeared every summer, but nobody knew whence it came, or where it went in the autumn. Soper found its habitat away off up in Baffin land, and brought back with him to Ottawa blue goose eggs, nest, goslings and mature birds. Soper is shown above, in the Far North.

Giles had been sent by his master, a wealthy farmer, to make a few purchases in the town. Among the shops he had to visit was his master's tailor.

The assistant in this emporium noticed that Giles really required a new waistcoat, and he tried to persuade the old fellow to order one there and then.

"Look," he cried, "this is gone, and that's gone! You'd better have a new one."

But the old chap shook his head.

"No," he replied firmly. "If me wife puts a new back and front in it, the arm'oles will last for another year all right."—London Answers.

Old Sol Is Poor Forecaster

Washington. — Old Sol recently staged his big parade of plain and fancy sunspots, but has not yet been able to establish himself as a reliable herald of mundane weather, in the opinion of official forecasters here.

The period when the sun exhibits the maximum number of spots, recurring at intervals of approximately 11 years, is now passing. Although the sunspot demonstrations in recent months have engrossed interest of scientists and public in all parts of the world, the United States weather bureau sees no new and dependable evidence that sunspots afford a reliable basis for weather forecasting, as pseudo-scientists have alleged from time immemorial.

"This bureau has given careful attention to studies of solar phenomena, but does not know of any study that has established a definite relation between weather conditions and sunspots," Dr. Charles F. Marvin, chief of the weather bureau, said.

"It would be exceedingly difficult to establish such a relationship because of the rotation of earth and sun, and also because at any one time there are many kinds of weather occurring in different parts of the earth. How may one determine which particular kind of weather might theoretically be correlated with a sunspot which might at the time exist? We would welcome any rational demonstration that sunspots control the weather, but so far this has not been proved and some of the efforts to do so have been absurd.

"On the other hand, terrestrial magnetic and auroral phenomena have been closely co-ordinated with the sunspots."

Doctor Marvin said that the bureau possesses information concerning sunspots going back to the early Christian era, and that a complete detailed record of sunspots is available commencing in 1749. This record has been graphed by bureau scientists and shows that the number of sunspots goes through cycles of eleven years, this approximate period elapsing between the recurrence of the maximum number of spots. This maximum falls roughly in the latter part of 1928 and early in 1929.

The record shows that in some months as many as 250 spots have been visible, while in others there may be none at all. The longest period when the sun was unspotted was 23 months from 1809 to 1811.

"Some scientists hold the view that the eleven-year period is the result of gravitational action resulting from movements of the planets Jupiter and Saturn, but other authorities contend that the spots could be explained by internal action of the sun," Doctor Marvin said.

"Recently the bureau published, on its merits, a study of the planetary hypothesis of sunspots by Dinsmore Alter of the University of Kansas, which sought to show that short period fluctuations in the spottedness of the sun could be correlated with the movements of Venus, Mercury and the earth. Other scientists entertain the theory that the sunspots may be caused by meteors which strike the sun."

A diamond, if intensely heated in a vacuum, expands or swells and turns into black charcoal. If intensely heated while in the air, the diamond will disappear as carbonic acid gas. This seems to indicate that they were formed in the earth from carbon, and subjected to great heat and pressure.

KNOWING HIS ASHES

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Thomas was going through the annual orgy of having the basement cleaned out. His wife attended to the task of putting everything above the cellar into sanitary condition and seemed to enjoy it. Below ground it was Thompson's task, and among other things there was the winter's accumulation of ashes to be gotten rid of.

This is an age of specialization, and even in our small town we have an ashes man who gives all his time and all his talents to the disposal of ashes. It was he, of course, whose services Thompson employed in carting away the remains of what had once been a supply of fuel.

"What 'a' you been burnin'?" the ash man inquired as he viewed the pile of cinders lying in one corner of the cellar.

"Well, coke, mostly," Thompson replied, "mixed with a little coal."

"I could see at the first glance that it wasn't coal," the laboring man stated. "I ain't educated, but I do know my ashes."

It is an accomplishment which is not infrequently lacking for a man properly to know his ashes.

"Have you Little Black Sambo?" I asked the clerk in the book store. I was getting a birthday remembrance for a child of my acquaintance and I thought he might be interested in the story of the little colored boy.

The salesman looked over the long line of shelves in an endeavor to find the desired volume. He opened a few drawers, pawed over a table of miscellaneous books nearby, confusion showing on his countenance.

"I don't seem to find it," he explained finally, "but we have Black Beauty, and the Black Tulip."

Here was a man who did not know his ashes.

Denton occupies a prominent position in a big organization, but he has hard sledding. He is far from popular; he is even cordially disliked by many of the people who work with him, or perhaps I should say who work for him. Denton prides himself that he plays no favorites; he treats everybody alike. The trouble with him is that he doesn't know his ashes. It has never got through his head that diplomacy is a virtue, that the sensitive self-conscious man should be approached in a far different manner than the bully; that some men are stimulated by praise and others by pride. Denton praises no one. It would seem to him a weakness to do so. He makes friends with no one. He sits in cold isolation in his bare office and gives orders. If he only knew a little of human nature and could some way get to it, he might some day be almost a great person.

The ash man could teach many of us a very important lesson. The recognition of different conditions, of different personalities, of a varied method of approach in business transactions, of the value of what at first might seem trifling details—these qualities make or mar success. It pays to know one's ashes.

SUPREME SACRIFICE

Sculptured by Lorado Taft, this a notable monument of enduring marble was dedicated recently at White Hall, Ill., to the memory of Annie Louise Keller, a school teacher who gave her life to protect the children entrusted to her care. When a tornado swept over central Illinois on April 19, 1927, the school, with Miss Keller and her twenty-two pupils, was in its path. She ordered each child to crawl under a desk while she kept watch at the door. The building went down, killing the teacher, but every one of her charges escaped uninjured.

Dreams of Wealth Just Dreams

Marysville, Kan.—Dreams of gold nuggets, bags of gold dust and other valuables and relics which were thought to be in Marshall county's limestone cavern, about seven miles south of here, came to an end when the opening was explored by Everett Kraemer and Emil Peeks of Marysville.

Instead of hidden treasures the two young men found only pieces of jagged rock and several marks and carved initials. The cave has been known to exist for some time, but only a few persons knew the exact location of the spot until recently.

Considerable comment was made concerning the cave two weeks ago when John G. Ellenbecker of Marysville wrote a story in a local paper. The two men became interested and decided to explore it.

According to legends concerning the cavern it was previously the rendezvous of a pioneer, who secluded himself in a cave whenever Indians became warlike in that vicinity. It has also been told and retold by parents to their children in the community that the cave was the hiding place of treasures of persons who were returning from California on the Oregon trail after the gold rush.

Access to the cave was gained when Kraemer and Peeks supplied themselves with flashlights and disappeared into the opening, 30 by 30 inches, at the summit of a big hill. After crawling on their hands and knees for about four feet in a passageway no larger than the opening they came to a large chamber. The opening was large enough so that they could proceed while standing erect.

The opening then tapered down until the men came to a second small opening. By wedging themselves sidewise they were able to pass through. Upon crawling a short distance they were again able to stand up in another large chamber. The pair followed the passageway for about 15 feet, and it, too, tapered down like the first one encountered. They followed it on hands and knees and came to where they could proceed no further. They believe that the cavern ends at that spot, which is over 50 feet under ground.

When the Manchu dynasty was overthrown in 1911 China had 400,000,000 uneducated people.

Family Runs to Policemen

Columbus, Ohio.—Some families run to money; others take up golf. But the ancestral urge of three Columbus brothers spurs them to pursue crooks.

The three are this city's first family police trio. Their family tree took root in the British Isles and was nourished by Scotland Yard and the Royal Northwest Mounted police of neighboring Canada.

Leo Phillips, twenty-seven, youngest of the trio, was appointed patrolman only recently. John E. Phillips, thirty-one, is a plainclothes man on the vice squad. He has been a policeman five years. Otto W. Phillips, thirty-five, is a detective, having been with the department six years. Most recently he has been noted for his connection with the Dr. James H. Snook case here.

The three brothers reside on the same street. Each is married, and John and Leo are fathers.

Incidentally, their father, John A. Phillips of Pomeroy, Ohio, was not content to retire from business without his fling of adventure. On giving up his coal office he became a member of the Pomeroy merchant police.

Back of Pomeroy, where the brothers were born, is Old Tucking Mill, Pembrokeshire, Step-a-Side, South Wales, British Isles. That is the Phillips family seat.

From there the brothers' uncle, Tom A. Phillips, entered Scotland Yard. For 38 years he has been an inspector.

Three other relatives are members of the Canadian "mounties." One is an inspector, another a sergeant, and the third a corporal.

Leo, the youngest, had major league baseball possibilities. He had been in the Mississippi Valley league, the Western league, and with Salisbury, N. C., in a Southern circuit. The Pittsburgh Pirates held an option on him while in the latter berth.

"I like baseball, and I like the thought of police work," Leo said. "There wasn't much to choose between them, but I guess the old family itch won out."

The common cause of digestive difficulties is excess acid. Soda cannot alter this condition, and it burns the stomach. Something that will neutralize the acidity is the sensible thing to take. That is why physicians tell the public to use Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this delightful preparation can neutralize many times its volume in acid. It acts instantly; relief is quick, and very apparent. All gas is dispelled; all sourness is soon gone; the whole system is sweetened. Do try this perfect anti-acid, and remember it is just as good for children, too, and pleasant for them to take.

Man's Chief Motive in Dress

By M. K. THOMSON, Ph. D.

A SHORT time ago it was reported that a bishop speaking to a group of ministers advised them to raise mustaches because he thought it was the only mark of distinction between a man and a woman.

In matters of dress the chief distinction is that women spend more time and money on them. The National Retail Dry Goods association was recently told that the average man spends $85 a year on clothes, while the average woman spends $238. Judged by this standard, clothes are about three times as important to a woman as they are to a man. And yet most women admit that they haven't a thing to wear—when they are invited out.

Women are also more exclusive in their taste. No woman will wear a hat that is exactly like another woman's hat. What man would think of wearing a hat that is the only one of its kind in existence? Women have common aversions, men have common likes. Women make greater use of dress as a means of expressing their personality in the unusual and distinctive.

A man's chief motive in dress is to be conventional, inconspicuous. It makes him feel more at ease and less self-conscious if he knows that his clothes pass muster. During the World war the men in the trenches were encouraged to shave every day and to look to their clothes as a means of increasing morale and self-respect.

Except in the case of the dude and the dandy the average man would rather be a little under than a little overdressed. Note how hard it is to get a man to attend a full dress affair. No man quite gets over his boyhood aversion to too much finery. The "regular fellers" never dol up. It is not considered manly to carry the thing too far. A well dressed boy suffers unspeakable humiliation at the hands of the gang. He never forgets it.

The Rebekah Home For Children At Gilroy

IN the care of the young, mankind finds its highest sphere. Proper care for the young, the aged and the helpless are the hall marks of civilization. Today in all civilized nations the workhouse has given way to institutions where the helpless are truly cared for instead of being exploited like beasts of burden.

One of the finest examples of the work of making life happy for the unfortunate youngsters without homes or parents is that of the Rebekah Lodge maintained at Gilroy. Here orphans and half-orphans are given care which Providence has denied them at home. Here kind attendants strive to furnish for the children under their care the same happy childhood which is enjoyed by a child in a happy home and family.

On visiting the home one is impressed with the idea that all of these people, attendants and children, are one big happy family. Through the efforts of those responsible for the maintenance of this institution these children are shielded from the harsh cruelty of an unloving world, are made happy and healthy, given training that will enable them to become good self-respecting citizens of the future and furnished with a background of happy childhood memories which will be a pleasure to them throughout life.

The children receive their schooling in the public schools of Gilroy, at the home they are taught discipline, citizenship and given good character training.

The faces of these happy children made many impressions on the writer on the occasion of a recent visit to the Rebekah Home for Children at Gilroy, and if you want to experience a real joy in seeing happy smiling faces of little children, visit this home some time.

Education A National Problem Hoover States

"ALTHOUGH education is primarily a responsibility of the states and local communities, and rightly so, yet the nation as a whole is vitally concerned in its development everywhere to the highest standards and to complete universality," stated President Herbert Hoover in his inaugural address.

"Self government can succeed only through an instructed electorate. Our objective is not simply to overcome illiteracy. The nation has marched far beyond that. The more complex the problems of the nation become, the greater is the need for more and more advanced instruction.

"Moreover, as our numbers increase and as our life expands with science and invention, we must discover more and more leaders for every walk of life. We cannot hope to succeed in directing this increasingly complex civilization unless we can draw all the talent of leadership from the whole people. One civilization after another has been wrecked upon the attempt to secure sufficient leadership from a single group or class. If we would prevent the growth of class distinction and would constantly refresh our leadership with the ideals of our people, we must draw constantly from the general mass. The full opportunity for every boy and girl to rise through the selective processes of education can alone secure to us this leadership."

The advocates of a Department of Education find in these statements further foundation for the belief that such a department will be instituted during the administration of President Hoover.

This Golf Age

PITY the cow! No longer may she roam at ease over hill and dale, gently cropping the succulent herbage and complacently chewing her cud. For the cow is being displaced by the speeding golf ball, and where old bossy roamed in days of yore we now have sand traps, bunkers and roughs to add to the joy of the golfist.

Now we have a problem. Shall the cow continue to crop the grass in bovine bliss at the county poor farm, or shall this last stand of pastoral pursuit also give way to the fairway, thus completing the transition of our hill land from the cow age to the golf age?

The proposal to turn the pasture land at the farm into a golf course is being given serious consideration by the supervisors. Whether or not they will see their way clear to make the proposed changes remains to be seen. But the suggestion is a good one. Golf courses are playgrounds, and more and more playgrounds both for the young and the old will be needed as the population of the county increases. San Mateo county has some of the finest golf courses in the state. These will be more and more appreciated as our vacant land becomes built up. Every addition to our play grounds now becomes a potential asset.

The Water District

THE need of an adequate supply of water for this county becomes more and more apparent as new houses are built and new grounds laid out. The water supply is not too great now. What will it be in ten years?

San Mateo county is fortunate in having an almost unlimited supply of pure, good water flowing through it. But that water is of no avail as long as it flows in the pipes of the Hetch Hetchy system. In order to take it out of those pipes an organization must be formed, which will be empowered to deal with the City of San Francisco, enter into contracts for the purchase of water at wholesale rates, install an adequate distribution system and furnish water either directly to the consumer of to the various municipalities which maintain their own systems. This en fin is the function of the proposed county water district.

San Francisco has offered to supply water from the Hetch Hetchy system at wholesale rates. We cannot, however, avail ourselves of that offer without the formation according to law of a suitable district, a district capable of entering into a contract for the delivery of the water, and of retailing that water to the consumer.

Entente Cordiale

WHEN the representatives of Great Britain and the United States met this week the meeting was unique in its way. Two great nations were represented by men who from humble beginnings as ordinary working men have been selected to guide the destinies of the world's greatest nations.

The meeting was conducted with such formality as was necessary and required by custom, but, we will warrant, beneath the trappings and frills of formality there was a meeting of man to man which has seldom characterized the official visit of representatives of foreign powers; a meeting of the representatives of the people of these two great countries, not alone of representatives of two governments.

Much of the misunderstanding in the world today is the result of circumlocution, a quality which some of our political representatives seem to have developed to a high degree. Too often when representatives of nations meet, they speak not to be understood but to be misunderstood. In President Hoover and Primier MacDonald, we have two workmen and businessmen used to direct talking. Better understanding is sure to follow such a meeting.

Means Sought To Stimulate Orient Trade

Understanding And Trade, Object Of Plans

By ELWOOD SQUIRES

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, October 9—(UP)—To establish trade relations between California and the half of the world's population which lives in the far east, 50 suggestions have been made to the State Chamber of Commerce by Charles B. Spofford, American Trade Commissioner, and Julian Arnold, American Commercial Attache for China, representing the United States Department of Commerce.

Among the suggestions were:

California newspapers publish more China and India news.

Insist upon trans-Pacific telegraphic rates comparable with those on the Atlantic.

Induce California secondary schools to institute courses in the the fundamentals of Oriental civilizations.

Support American colleges in both China and Indian to train Americans in those countries on Oriental subjects.

Develop in California the most complete library in the west on Oriental subjects.

Develop in California an annual Oriental Pageant of such character as to attract people from all over the country.

Carry California to the Orient and the Orient to California in thoughtfully prepared motion pictures.

Maintain in San Francisco a small standing committee or carefully selected Orientals and Americans to investigate and report upon complaints by Orientals against treatment accorded them in California.

Erect in a commercial center in California a skyscraper pagoda as a business building to California's interest in China and erect a "House of the Orient," patterned after India House, New York.

Maintain in the State Chamber of Commerce a special standing committee to advance California interests in the Far East.

Emphasize that India has comparitively low import duties and no Imperial or preferential tariffs exist.

Encourage direct silver bullion shipments to India via Pacific Ocean rather than the Atlantic in order that faster freight service for other classes of merchandise may be made possible.

A. T. Gillespie, San Francisco exporter, added to these suggestions that cold storage plants should be established at the larger Oriental ports, especially, he said, at Calcutta.

Special committees will be appointed to further these recommendations, it was announced by officials of the State Chamber of Commerce.

Heated Argument Features Meeting For Study of Tax

By ELWOOD SQUIRES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, October 9—(UP)—California's Legislative Tax Committee has started work on a contemplated revision of the state tax system in the usual flurry of controversy that is apparantly an essential part of changes in taxation principles.

One meeting has already been held in San Francisco, where Richard E. Collins, chairman of the Board of Equalization on one side of the fence and the state administration on the other during the life of the last tax commission is to be continued, judging from this first meeting.

Heron told the present commission that the new 4 percent net income tax on banks and corporation will require several years before it becomes a success.

Collins urged the commission to scrap the tax, claiming that it is faulty and will never return the revenue it should.

Cases where oil companies are paying but a minute fraction of their former tax were cited by Collins as examples of the practical working of the law which the last legislature passed on the recommendation of the old Tax Commission. Heron said that advantages which accrued to these companies this year will not be repeated after two or three years, giving technical reasons for his argument.

Present conditions in the California tax system whereby banks are escaping almost tax-free, were discussed at the meeting. Heron expressed optimism on the eventual outcome of this situation.

The Macallen case in Massachusetts, where the United States Supreme court declared that tax exempt securities cannot be included in taxable net income returns, may not apply to California, Heron believes. Although California taxes such income under the new law, it has done so under old statutes for 20 years. Consequently the supreme court cannot charge that the state has suddenly and deliberately started taxing such securities as Massachusetts did, Heron pointed out.

The banks excluded in this source of income from their tax returns and this has lowered the state's revenue from banks to its present abnormally low level.

Collins suggested to the commission that they consider a moderate sales tax to aid meeting expenses of the public school system, which he said is becoming too heavy a burden on the taxpayers.

The next meeting of the commission will be at San Francisco on October 17, when steam, electric and shortline railroad representatives will give their viewpoints on taxation matters.

The hair has a surprisingly strong influence over the general aspect of charm. Our special sets in hair dressing and designing tell us that there are seldom two heads alike, but that women too often fail to realize that copying another women's coifure makes her too commonplace.

tions as well as act as a statistical bureau, has records that bode ill for future "bad" men and women in the state.

Finger prints—unforgeable signatures to practiced eyes of the Crime Identification experts—have acted as calling cards left at the scenes of numerous crimes in past years. A total of 283 women, three girls, 2,609 men and 481 boys were dragged into the clutches of the law in August of this year through the activities of these men who make a life science of the formation of the epidermis of the hands of yeggs and yeggesses.

Forgers have their handwriting sampled at the bureau offices, and when the "rubber" checks start bouncing back, the handwriting is examined by the bureau men and perhaps identified as that of "Goofy Louis" or "Arsenic Al." With the identification completed, all that remains is to hale the guilty chap into court.

Other sections of the department of penology are the Narcotic division, the division of pardons and commutations, and the division of criminology, otherwise known as the crime commission.

The detection of physicians who, either purposely or unintentionally, are responsible for addicts securing quantities of dope, was revealed in the governor's report as the greatest problem facing the narcotic division.

Safety Campaigns Mitigate Accidents

By J. F. McLAUGHLIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, October 9—(UP)—The loss of manpower in San Mateo county by avoidable accidents is a challenge to the ingenuity of city and county, as well as state, officials, F. P. Fletcher, superintendent of the state safety engineering department, declared today.

Safety campaigns conducted in California in the past have done much to mitigate the death toll of carelessness, Fletcher revealed. To start a safety campaign is one task, but to continue its spirit with enthusiasm requires the greatest effort. It is after the band stops playing and the parade is over that honest thought must be given to get results, he said.

"The safety educational work must have a trained director," said Fletcher. "One person should be made responsible, regardless of the size of the community where the campaign is being launched.

"In addition to having a working knowledge of the principles of safety, the man in charge must have nearly every other personal qualification that is to be found in the successful man in the average walks of life. He must have vision, imagination, initiative, persistency, judgement, diplomacy, leadership and the ability to get along with his fellow men; and above all he must have sympathy in his make up."

The need for safety education is apparent, Fletcher said. Society as a whole has met the challange in only a superficial way by enacting legislation compensation benefits for the injured workman, to lessen his distress during the period of his disability, but this does not get at the root of the evil.

"It is up to the individuals of the communities to take keen interest in all problems connected with the advancement of safety and human happiness, if the causes of accidents are to be determined and eliminated," he insisted.

LARGER COMPENSATION OFFERED LUMBERMEN

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 10—(UP)—Weekly compensation for lumbermen injured at their work will be between $20.83 to $25, a substantial increase over the previous compensation, it was decided at the last meeting of the Lumbermen's Accidental Prevention Association.

A second-injury fund also has been established by the association whereby additional compensations will be allotted after two injuries have been received by a lumberman.

Jury Finds Auto Death Accidental

An inquest was held here Tuesday into the death two weeks ago of Joseph Costillo as the result of an automobile accident on the highway at Five Points. Costillo was struck by a car driven by Frank Guerena, San Francisco attorney, as he was crossing the highway on a bicycle. He died almost instantly.

The verdict of the jury was that Costillo died "of a crushed skull received in a collision with an automobile while riding his bicycle on the state highway in Redwood City; accidental."

The chief witness at the inquest was Guerena. Others called upon to testify were Dr. Harper Peddicord, who examined the body; Mrs. Mary Jiminez, proprietress on the highway, and the first person to arrive upon the scene of the accident; and Officer Herman Fleishman, who investigated the accident.

The inquest was conducted by Coroner J. C. McGovern and District Attorney Franklin Swart.

Planes Seen As Potential Germ Menace

Speedy Flight May Cause Entry Of Disease

By ELWOOD SQUIRES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, October 9—(UP)—Like huge, disease-carrying mosquitoes, the airplane is menacing the health of California, according to a warning issued by Dr. Walter M. Dickie, state director of Public Health.

Typhus fever from Mexico may fly on the wings of our commercial ships. When trans-ocean flights become everyday occurances, we shall be periled by the most dreaded diseases of the Orient.

During the world war in 1918, a French aviator brought by air a dog that developed rabies shortly after its arrival in England. Previously England had been totally free of the infection, but with the arrival of the infected animal, the disease broke out anew. It was not until recently that rabies again were brought under control on the Island Empire.

Within the next few years, unless strict measures are taken, California may have outbreaks of such plagues as Asiatic cholera, yellow fever, dengue, rabies and numerous diseases found in the Orient and the southern islands.

"Each advancing year finds more airplanes flying across our borders," Dr. Dickie declared. "In some countries adjoining and in relative proximity to our boundries unusual and extremely fatal diseases are endemic.

"The status of the airplane as a factor in the introduction of serious diseases in certain to be established definitely within the next few years; and it must be regulated, as a possible carrier of communicable diseases."

In the case of trans-ocean steamers carrying diseases, the trip usually requires such time that the period of incubation of the germ is allowed to pass and the disease to make its presence felt, thus allowing the quarantine officials to detain the vessel at the harbor.

Because of its great speed, the airplane does not provide such a safeguard, the health director pointed out.

In spite of its valuable uses in carrying serums and spreading insecticides, Dr. Dickie concluded, these beneficiary works may be quite nullified if the airplane is permitted to introduce severe and communicable diseases into places where they are now unknown.

Menlo City Council Meeting

The city council met in regular session Tuesday evening with a full membership present.

A communication was read from the Parent-Teachers Association, asking for the appointment of another police officer to protect the children attending the central school as the janitor there had other work and could not give any time to this duty. The school trustees were present and addressed the council urging the appointment of an officer for at least five hours of the day. The president of the association was also present adding her request for the demand to that of the trustees.

Chief Furman said he could not permit his men to perform the duty as they were required on other work. He showed by figures given him by the principal of the school that the services of an officer would be required nearly all day or at least for five hours. Weeden advocated an underpass as the solution of the vexed question. Mayfield, he said was about to construct one at the grammar school on the highway there. After much discussion, and on motion of Blake, seconded by Walker, it was agreed that a joint conference be had by the council and school trustees on Thursday to endeavor to solve the problem.

The report of the city clerk was read showing that the amount of money in the treasury to be $7,240.06.

The chief of police through the police commissioner, Blake, reported that the amount of money collected during September was: fines, $735.50, licenses $106, total $841.50.

Commissioner of Streets Walker reported that it would take seventy-five posts for the street signs. After some discussion the clerk was directed to write the California Automobile Association in reference to street signs. It was thought the association might furnish them. The clerk was also authorized to purchase 1000 street maps of the town from the county surveyor's office at a cost of $70.

Walker urged the opening of certain streets in town that was recently agreed upon. The city engineer was instructed to begin proceedings at once.

The chairman was authorized to enter into a contract with the P. G. and E. Company, as formerly agreed upon, to put up the modern lights with brackets on the highway.

The chairman presented a list of additional lights to be placed on other streets of the city. It was agreed that the council in a body go over the district and ascertain the proper places to put in the proposed new lights. The new lights are to be paid for by the county, eleven in number, and the proposed modern lights on the highway, heretofore paid by the county, are to be taken over by the city.

Blake suggested that the council should look around for a city hall site, while the property was cheap. In a short time a city hall must be built and it was now time for the council to look into the matter. After considerable discussion during which each councilman aired his views the matter was referred to the planning commission.

Ordinace 16 creating a planning commission came up for its first reading, and will be adopted at the next meeting. The ordinance regulating new subdivisions was atlso read for the first time.

The city attorney was commissioned to sit in at the hearing of the case before the railroad commission when the matter of reducing the P. G. and E.'s rates is heard.

The council adjourned to October 10th.

The citizens of Stanford Park have organized an improvement club with a large membership. There are many improvements desired by that favored locality and the people believe by organization much in that direction will be accomplished. In unity there is strength and by pulling together for certain needs the people will be successful. Stanford Park lies close to the university, is in the shadow of the Hoover home, and with its other advantages should be a very desirable place in which to reside.

Bear Gulch Water Co. Rates

The State Railroad Commission has handed down a decision in the Bear Gulch Water Company water rate case. The commission has slightly increased the rate but did not grant the increase asked by the water company. It is a compromise decision. The company will have to complete the work initiated by it sometime ago in improving the water system. The smaller consumer will be only slightly effected by the raise, while the large consumer will have to bear the greater burden. The decision was rendered on Monday. The announcement of the judgment was made by City Attorney Whitworth at the meeting of the council Tuesday evening.

Big Reduction In Car Prices In This Sale

Motordom still reverberates from the sensational and unexpected price reductions on all Hudson and Essex models announced last week by E. G. Hinds, dealer here. So enthusiastic was the response to the great clearance sale, staged to clear the firm's decks for action when new models arrive in January, that Mr. Hinds reports a public interest, second only to that exhibited when the year's new models are first shown.

Every model, in both Essex and Hudson lines has been reduced. The smallest reduction is noted on the Essex, the Challenger Sedan, which has been dropped $100. The Essex reductions go up to $250. On the Hudson line the smallest cut is $170, ranging to $600 on the larger models. As an indication of the unusual values, Mr. Hinds points out that the factory list prices remain unchanged, the clearance sale having been initiated by the distributor and dealer organizations.

"There is ample justification for this public interest," said Mr. Hinds in discussing the sale. "In many years in the automobile business I have never participated in a merchandizing event embodying such values.

"The reaction of the public is decidedly favorable. By applying an age-old business principle, the depreciation that follows when cars are sold at full list price right up to the introduction of new models is eliminated, a factor which is widely appreciated. In addition, through this clearance sale, it is possible to offer important additional savings.

"No price reduction in recent years has caused so much comment. It came as a genuine surprise to public and trade alike, particularly because of the strong position held by Hudson-Essex in sales this year. Essex, the Challenger, in California, as well as the rest of the nation, ranks third among all new car registrations, while more of the Greater Hudsons were sold in the first seven months of this year than in all of 1928.

"One point which has excited no end of interest is the completeness of equipment of the Essex. It carries as factory standard four hydraulic shock absorbers and bumpers front and rear; combination electric gasoline and oil gauge on the dash and motor temperature indicator on the dash along with many other conveniences.

"In numerous competitive events, the Challenger has earned the right to its millitant title. It holds many cups, several of international importance, for successful reliability and economy competition, while its fame for power, speed and durability has been attested by a number of sensational performances held under official observation."

The Rebekah Lodge will give a card party Tuesday evening at the Odd Fellows hall. The committee making arrangements for this event is headed by Mrs. Dan De Witt. Score cards will be 25 cents.

Labor Situation Becoming Better

SACRAMENTO, October 9—(UP)—An improvement in labor conditions in California was indicated in the monthly report of the State Employment Agencies, which stated that 16,125 men and women were placed in positions during the month of August, an increase of 1,696 over the month of July.

Since July 1, 1928, to the last day of August, 1929, there were 184,028 persons who secured work through the State Agencies.

Difficulties In Traffic Enforcement

New Law Presenting Problems To Solve

By ELWOOD SQUIRES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAME7NTO, Oct. 10—(UP) Must police officers of the city of Redwood City be attired in distinctive uniform and driving snow white automobiles or motorcycles when arresting speeders?

There's the question that has everyone at the capitol wondering.

A law passed by the last legislature provided for the organization of the "California Highway Patrol." Furthermore it stated that officers operating under this patrol, whose duty required them to enforce the Motor Vehicle Act regarding speeding and reckless driving, must wear a distinctive uniform and drive a car painted a distinctive color. White was chosen by the Motor Vehicle Division as the color for these cars.

No one questions the effect of the new law on county traffic officers. They are the "California Highway Patrol" and must wear the uniform and drive the white car.

But where do city officers come in under this scheme?

Many municipalities allow their police officers a certain amount each month for using private cars in patrolling their beats. Naturally the officers are not anxious to paint their private machines a glaring white, with an emblem on the side. Many cities have protested against the state's claim that they must paint municipally owned police machines the patrol color.

The motor vehicle division, under which the California Highway Patrol is placed, is generally of the opinion that the cities are obliged to equip their "speed cops" with the white machines or motorcycles.

An opinion given by Attorney General U. S. Webb last week did little to clear up the situation. He only said that "officers enforcing speed laws must wear a distinctive uniform and drive a distinctively painted car." In referring to "officers" he did not say whether he meant both city and county officers.

Unofficial legal opinion about the capitol takes the view that the law might be declared unconstitutional should it come to a test. Such a test case would be brought by some person who had been arrested for speeding by an officer not distinctly attired or equipped.

The court would then have to decide whether or not the officer was competent as a witness, considering that he had not complied with the law in his attire and equipment. Should the court admit his testimony the "distinctive attire and equipment" phase of the new law would be automatically nullified.

Aged Needy To Be Aided

Welfare Service To Assist Those In Need

By ELWOOD SQUIRES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, October 9—(UP) —San Mateo county applicants for state aid to the needy aged will be interviewed by Mrs. E. Bieber County Social Service Commission, courthouse, Redwood City.

The state department of Social Welfare today announced the complete list of persons in each county of the state who will administer the age law in their counties.

"Instead of sending their applications to the social welfare department at Sacramento, those wishing to receive aid should see their county administrators," said Miss Esther de Turberville, chief of the division of state aid for the needy aged.

"Administrators of the old age aid law in the counties will investigate each case which applies. They will then send the application to the division here at Sacramento and final approval will be placed on the request if it is to be granted.

"It is the intention of the division to give applications as prompt a response as possible. But we are going to carry out the provisions of the law and safeguard the state in this expenditure."

All persons over 70 years of age are eligible to the state aid with certain requirements, according to the law. They must have lived for fifteen years in the state and for one year in the county. American citizenship is demanded of all those receiving aid.

The citizenship phase of the law is causing some difficulty to the division, according to Miss Turberville. Several mattters on this subject have been referred to the attorney general for an opinion.

The law declares that the state and county must give aid to the amount of $30 a month to each person fulfilling requirements. If a person has an income this must be counted in the $30 allowance, the act states. Such situations as where a person is receiving rent free or being given food for certain work are being presented to the attorney general for his consideration, to determine whether this must be included in the $30 total.

"Many details must be worked out before the law goes into effect, Miss de Turberville asserted, "but we hope to start payments to the aged by January 1, 1930. I wish to acknowledge the whole hearted co-operation which each county in the state has shown in this work. We have been given the full support of every officer in the counties and with this to work on, the new plan cannot help but be a success."

In Tune with the World

"Let me make the songs of a people, and let who will make their laws," so one wise man has expressed the importance of music.

Music is the universal language. It is understood, appreciated by, and inspires all people; leaping the barriers of difference in language, race, color and creed. Because of its universality, it is one of the great forces working toward universal peace and understanding.

Every people, every nation has its music; an understanding and appreciation of this music gives us an understanding and appreciation of its people.

Nature has endowed every individual with a love of music. It is the natural expression of our emotions. Each one of us responds to some strain, tune or melody. Because of this, music should be encouraged in our homes, in our schools, in our churches—everywhere in our community.

Music is a necessity of life in every community. An investment in music yields rich dividends in the way of delightful entertainment and the joys of living. Fortunately, good music is within the reach of everyone today.

Every home should be "in tune with the world." Every family should be afforded the opportunity of enjoying the best in music, for modern music conserves the home.

Such modern miracles—as the phonograph, the player piano and the radio—enable every member of the family circle to gain a better appreciation and understanding of music.

All children should have the opportunity to develop their musical talent, every home should possess one or more musical instruments. The talented youth should be given proper instruction by music teachers in our music schools.

It is the duty of every community to provide its citizens with a civic band, or orchestra. Every community should have a director of music in its schools, teaching appreciation and knowledge of music, furnishing voice and instrumental training.

"Music hath charms—." Let us take full advantage of these charms. Let's, as a community, be "in tune with the world."

Music keeps us in tune with each other as well as in tune with the world. Let it be foremost in

In furtherance of its policy of conserving natural gas, the State Railroad Commission announced an arrangement whereby the Southern California Edison Company will conserve an additional 20,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day. The company is to regulate the operation of its hydro-electric system in such manner that it can utilize an additional 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily in its Long Beach steam generating plant.

Enrollment at the seven teachers' colleges was announced by the Department of Education as follows: San Jose, 1,887, gain of 10 per cent; Fresno, 1,251, gain of 12 per cent; Santa Barbara, 558, gain of 19 per cent; San Diego, 1,028, gain of 8 per cent; Humboldt, 272, gain of 3-10 per cent; San Francisco, 747, loss of 1 per cent; Chico, 552 (new buildings incomplete), loss of 11 per cent.

Injunction halted removal of an old levee which bounds Yuba City on the south near the banks of the Feather river. Dr. J. Allen Jackson, San Francisco, owner of the land behind the levee, started to remove it, contending that a new levee, near the river, made the old one useless. The State Reclamation Board stepped in with the injunction suit. Opponents of the removal of the old levee contend that 30,000 acres of land would be threatened in event of high water.

Investigation of the records of Folsom prison revealed the following historical data: The prison was formally opened to receive prisoners July 26, 1880. The first inmates to be quartered at Folsom were forty prisoners from San Quentin, who arrived at 6 p. m. on that date. The party included the new warden, T. C. Pockman; captain of the guard, Benjamin Chambers; captain of the first watch, Fred B. Hollis, and eight guards. The prisoners were assigned to their cells and safely locked up at 7 p. m.

Action of E. P. Jones, representing all the property owners within the Merced Irrigation District, to prevent the district from settling the old $141,-000 Heaney case out of court for $5500, was submitted to Judge Denver S. Church of Fresno. Jones claims Heaney, a sub-contractor in the building of Exchequer dam, has no claim against the district and asks the court to prevent a settlement.

Grandma Consolidated Mining Company, one of the early operators at Goldfield, Nev., has acquired the placer holdings of the Princess Magalia Company, located three miles from the old town of Magalia. Arrangements are being made for installation of powerful equipment, to be followed by sinking of a 520-foot shaft to bedrock. Drills are said to have located the channel at an approximate depth of 510 feet, and to have indicated presence of rich material.

Bids for general, mechanical and electrical work in connection with the construction of wards at the Mendocino, State Hospital, Talmage, had been opened by Bert B. Meek, director of the State Department of Public Works. J. S. Hanna of San Francisco, with a bid of $99,900, was low on the general work; the Nottingham Heating and Ventilating Company of Oakland, with a bid of $19,666 was low on the mechanical work, and the Collins Electrical Company of Stockton, with a bid of 2983 was low on the electrical work.

Vierling S. Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction reports that more than 1,00,000 children have signed for the fall school term with heavy enrollment increases in every section of the state. The jumps in school attendance said Kersey, range from 2 to 15 per cent in the state generally, with some sections showing tremendous gains. Sixty new junior schools have been opened this year to accommodate the great enrollment, with two additional junior colleges also, located at Los Angeles and Santa Monica. This boosts the number of junior colleges in the state to thirty-four.

State Department of Public Works announced its District No. 2 office at Redding would open bids for repairs on the Pacific highway between the Butte county line and Red Bluff. The contract is to provide for placing 3908 cubic yards of stone to be used for surfacing of shoulders along the road.

Instead of stopping at Rincon creek in Carpenteria as originally proposed, the scenic highway along the summit of Santa Ynez mountain is to be continued to Lyons Springs in Matilija canyon, Ventura county, a distance from San Marcos Pass of some forty-four miles.

Ten miles an hour is the legal speed limit for motor vehicles at Yuba City, Police Chief Lee McCune discovered while studying city ordinances. The rule was passed in 1908 soon after Yuba City was incorporated. McClune wants the ordinance repealed.

The Belmont Metals Company has arranged for immediate installation of a powerful compressor and electric hoist on its Osborn gold mine at Angels Camp and has let a contract for sinking of the main shaft 125 feet below the tunnel level. A crosscut will then be run to the Osborn vein at a depth of 140 feet.

Schoolgirl learns simple health measure

WITH all the talk there is nowadays about the independence of the sub-deb generation, your reporter got a great kick out of hearing a grandmother describe how her granddaughter was following a good old tried and true method of improving her general health.

"My granddaughter, Margaret," says Mrs. Zell of 6231 Catherine Street, Philadelphia, "read about Nujol, was interested in it, so sent for a sample." It seems she has been taking a tablespoon of Nujol once a day since and expects to continue this treatment. Already she has found an improvement in her general health, her system functioning normally where other remedies had failed.

That's one of the best things about Nujol. It is just as harmless for young girls, or babies even, as it is for adults. For Nujol contains no medicines or drugs. It can't upset you because it works so easily and regularly, in a normal fashion.

Starting right

Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories, 2 Park Avenue, New York City. It can be bought anywhere for about the price of a ticket to a good movie. Get a bottle of Nujol today and try it, won't you? In sealed packages.

Babies will cry, often for no apparent reason. You may not know what's wrong, but you can always give Castoria. This soon has your little one comforted; if not, you should call a doctor. Don't experiment with medicines intended for the stronger systems of adults! Most of those little upsets are soon soothed away by a little of this pleasant-tasting, gentle-acting children's remedy that children like.

It may be the stomach, or may be the little bowels. Or in the case of older children, a sluggish, constipated condition, Castoria is still the thing to give. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment, and could by no possibility do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it's the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue; won't play, can't sleep, is fretful or out of sorts. Get the genuine; it always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

SEQUOIA GIRLS' CLUBS WELCOME NEW MEMBERS

In the S. G. S. ceremonial last wek, the meanings of the colors of the girls' clubs of Sequoia were brought out. The meanings of the colors are as follows: Club One, honor Club Two, courage; Club Three ,endeavor; Club Four, friendship; and Club Five, joy.

The ceremonial is given each semester to welcome the new girls to Sequoia, and it is very impressive, declared Miss Ann Burns, dean of girls, "We try to vary it each time, so that the older girls will not tire of it."

As an experiment, last year the color of the club was shown on the club leader while she spoke. Some improvements in this lighting arrangement were made this year, with the aid of Mrs. Elizabeth Littler, stage-craft instructor.

The spirit of womanhood, following the Sequoia tradition, was represented by Nancy Holmquist, president of S. G. S., the remainder of the cast consisting of members of the girls' board of athletic control, commissioners of girls' activities and athletics, girls' council, and the club leaders. The girls' choral classes took part in the ceremonial.

STATE DEPARTMENT CHAMPIONS BOBCATS

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 10—(UP)—The bobcat, killer of young deer, calves, sheep and fowl, may be declared to have a perfect right to existence in California, according to Charles G. Poole, connected with the state department of agriculture.

"Offsetting some of their predation," Poole said, "these animals show an economic value in at least two ways. First, they kill great numbers of mice, rats, rabbitts, ground squirrels and other noxious vermin; second there is the economic value of the pelt which has a considerable range on the market.

"The ratio between the favorable and unfavorable activities of the bobcats must determine whether they should be completely exterminated, only controlled, or permitted to remain entirely unmolested."

Motor Vehicle Fees Increase

SACRAMENTO, October 9—(UP)—An increase of $1,238,139.45 received by the state in paid registrations motor vehicle fees was reported during the period from January 1, 1929, to July 31, 1929, over the amount received during the preceeding six months. The total amount collected by such fees in the later period was $9,381,176.95.

The report of the California Highways Division also revealed the total registration of vehicles in the state for this period exceeded the same period in 1928 by 160,167.

Peninsula Is Flower Garden Of California

The importance of this county as a flower growing center is stressed in an article appearing in the current issue of the California Real Estate Magazine, and contributed by Fred H. Drake, president of the San Mateo County Chamber of Commerce.

In showing the place this county holds as a producer of flowers, Drake says in part:

"The leading flowers markets of the world are Covent Gardens, London, Chicago, and San Francisco, and the greatest of these, in point of distribution to other centers, is San Francisco. Immediately adjoining San Francisco and occupying, as it does, the Peninsula south of that city, San Mateo county contributes eighty per cent of the regional shipments in the floral industry.

During the year 1927, The American Railway Express Company, according to W. A. Lewis, commercial agent, forwarded to eastern markets 392 express carloads of beauty, the greater proportion of which originated in San Mateo county. In 1926, Mr. Lewis reports, his company carried 336 cars to eastern markets. In 1925, the chrysanthemum cut-flower business alone required eighty-two refrigerator cars, each holding 12,500 large chrysanthemums, to transport its burden of beauty—one million blooms—to the eastern seaboard.

Chrysanthemums probably top the list in outside shipments. Violets, roses, irises, lilies, asters, accacia, gardenias, heather, anemones, maidenhair ferns, almond and flowering peach blossoms add to the grand total. The growth of the industry is shown by the fact that ten years ago, four or five cars were shipped each week, and that on a single day in 1927, nine cars were sent to eastern markets.

During the week-end preceding the 1926 All-Saints Day Celebration in New Orleans, sixteen carloads of huge chrysanthemums for that occasion were shipped from San Francisco and Redwood City, the county seat of San Mateo county. This single shipment, totaling fully 200,000 blooms, and valued at $300,000 will enable you to readily believe that the annual crop value of the floral industry of San Mateo county is more than $7,000,000.

Each month in the year, our visitors to California see some flower in season here, and their friends at home in every state see floral visitors from California—from San Mateo county. The chrysanthemum center of the whole country is found in the vicinity of Redwood City, San Carlos and Belmont, with their three hundred acres devoted to chrysanthemums and asters. The double violet center of the west is in the Halfmoon Bay section. The single violet center is near Colma, where forty acres of violets can be seen. At Colma will also be found twenty green houses devoted exclusively to maidenhair and asparagus ferns.

Almost in the heart of Burlingame one grower has ten acres of roses under glass, with an equal acre age near Colma. Bessie Boston's famous Dahlia Farm, on the El Camino Real at San Mateo, ships bulbs to remote parts of the world. Nearby is an eighty-acre heather field for cutting. Fifty acres of highly-colored strawflowers find their natural habitat near Halfmoon Bay. A single firm shipped 125,000 bunches of strawflowers to eastern markets in one season.

In San Mateo county is found the largest and most modern greenhouse in the United States. In it you may drive your car among the hundreds of thousands of rose bushes, the planting of which was made profitable by the demands of the Los Angeles and Pasadena markets.

The Social Service Bureau at the courthouse is quite busy these days receiving applications for the needy aged who are seeking aid under the old age pension act passed by the last legislature. The law goes into effect on the first of the year. Each application must be scrutinized and the applicant must answer a great number of questions which when compiled must be sent to the headquarters at Sacramento, where the application is finally passed upon.

Collinsville—Plans underway for establishment of stockyard project covering 4,000 acres and involving investment of about $4,000,000, on old Montezuma ranch, one-half mile north of this town.

Mineral output of California for calendar year 1928 totaled $322,224,233, with 54 different substances taken from the earth during year.
